

Electrician

Reading Out Loud Worksheet

Hector is an electrician. He works five days a week, and he is off on weekends.

Five years ago, Hector and his wife moved to the United States from Mexico.

He was a roofer in Mexico but he decided that he wanted to be an electrician. His wife suggested that he take night classes at a community college.

After finishing his classes, Hector was hired by a local company. His boss appreciates him because he is a reliable worker and he gets along with the other employees. He also treats the customers with respect.

Hector likes his job and he earns a good income.
