A Hayride

Hayrides are a fun activity. Wooden carts are filled with straw. The carts are hitched to a horse and kids sit on the straw in the cart. The driver guides the horse down a path which has trees on both sides.

Hayrides are popular in autumn when the weather is cool but not cold. You can find hayrides in the country where there isn't much traffic.

In the past, hayrides were very common and popular. Farmers took their family to town on the back of carts filled with hay. This was before cars became popular.

Hay is made from cut plants like tall grass. Cows and other livestock eat hay.
